Mrs. Daboll begged him to tell her what poison it was that he had taken, but he steadfastly refused, saying that it was "no matter."

Mrs. Daboll called to her father, Mr. Siocom who was in the dooryard, and then ran out to call in Dr. Pope, who lives next door.

When the latter arrived Daboll was found to be beyond all medical aid, and died a few moments afterward.

The poison he had taken was so rapid in its action that scarcely ten minutes had elapsed between the time of Daboll's swallowing it and his death.

A thorough sourch of the house and yard falled to bring to light any vial which might have contained the poison; and inquiries at in it he local drug stores also proved unavailing, as the druggists and their clerks denied having sold any violent poison to any one.

Will the Common Law Wife be Arrested for Blackmail?

Maurice S. Wormser, who is being sued by Olive Kent Turner for absolute divorce on the ground that he married Florine Ranger April 28 last, spent a long time with Supt. Byrnes at Police Headquarters this morning. Neither he nor Supt. Byrnes would speak as to the nature of the business between them, but as Mr. Wormser denies that he was ever parried to Miss Turner, asserting that she was simply his mistress prior to his marriage, and that this suit for divorce is a blackmailing scheme, it is believed that he intends to blackmatt. It is a matter of speculation in every quarter whether Justice Patterson, of the Supreme Court, will or will not decide that dainty little case, and they are about evenly divided as to whether the court will lean towards the theory of helpless innocence with which the common law cloaks a woman and grant the prayer of the white and dimpled plaintiff, or, following the more modern notion, which considers woman the equal of man in the world's affairs and able to fight her own bat-
